How to use this collection

Each numbered guide covers meaning, causes, signs, assessment, treatment, home support, urgent concerns, questions, terms, sources, and a podcast outline. Related topics overlap, but their labels are not interchangeable diagnoses.

Extract the complete download and keep its folder structure. Numbered filenames match this index. Links can open individual PDFs in viewers that support local links. Editable topic text is included for later script preparation.

Scope and clinical use

Most guides focus on infancy and preschool. Learning disorders are usually clarified during schooling. Prematurity and low birth weight are risk factors. Descriptive concerns, such as sensory seeking, need context and do not establish a cause.

Medical care and developmental support can proceed together. Testing and therapy are individualized. These educational resources have not received independent clinical review. Arrange qualified clinical review and update references and local service details before public podcast release.
